

A man wearing a plaid shirt, overalls, and a cap is standing on a wooden ladder. He is painting the word 'CANNONDALE' in large, bold, sans-serif letters on a dark background above a window. The building has white trim around the window. A circular light fixture is visible on the wall above the man.

"The Cannondale tents are the easiest and fastest to pitch I've ever seen. Anyone can do it alone in 90 seconds . . . Once set, the zippers work with one sweep."

We designed our tents to erect exceptionally fast and easy with only two pole sections and two stakes. Two more stakes are provided for the tie down loops to give additional security in high winds. The integral "fly" of each tent is sewn in, so there are no additional pieces to erect.

Made like a "Thermos Bottle", our tents will keep you warm and dry by insulating the sleeping area from the outside air. The integral "fly" and interior canopy are both constructed of water-repellent, breathable, ripstop nylon. They are attached to each other all along their ends with a 6" wide baffle of ripstop. The integral "fly" extends all the way to the ground and does not touch the inner canopy at any point. Warmth liberated by your body collects and forms a warm buffer zone in the space between the "fly" and the inner canopy. This warm dead air space both insulates the sleeping area and eliminates condensation within.

This great country and the character of it's people make us proud to say that all of our products are made in America. Throughout this catalog we will introduce a few of our employees and illustrate some of the quality that they build into every Cannondale product.

"Since obtaining my tent some four years ago, I've really put it to the test. It has been with me on two major expeditions, six canoe trips of eight day duration, a seven day winter ski trek across northern Minnesota, and a score of overnights. To date, there hasn't been a single failure of seams, zippers, or otherwise."

windproof tent I've ever used."

Each of our tents has at least one vestibule. This transitional shelter lets you get in and out of the weather where you can shed wet, icy, or dirty gear before entering your sleeping area. Protected down to the ground on all sides, each vestibule has two zippered entrances/exits. In fair weather they may be unzipped, rolled, and tied out of the way. They are also great storage areas for gear that you want kept dry and within easy reach, but is either too "grubby" or too large to keep in the sleeping area.

The coated bathtub floor extends 18" up the tent's inner walls. There are no perimeter seams at ground level and the floor corners are purposely elevated. There are screens at both ends. Those on the storm doors are mounted on the outside and may be operated individually. Ventilation can thus be controlled from within the sleeping area without unzipping the pest screen.

The two pole assemblies provided with each tent are shock cord loaded, aluminum alloy. The polypropylene pole arches are specially formulated to maintain strength and flexibility in extreme temperature ranges. Each tent has two interior wall pockets with elastic tops, two ceiling tie loops, four molded "T" beam stakes, and a urethane-coated nylon stuffsack with a permanent cloth instruction sheet sewn in.

The integral "fly" are rust-colored and the inner canopies are gold-colored. Daylight passing through these combined colors produces a soft agreeable light. Vestibules and rear awnings are gold-colored. Tub floors and side walls are blue. All fabrics are ripstop nylon.

All seams are flat fell, double stitched (6-8 stitches per inch) with bartacks and/or web reinforcements at all stress areas. The thread is cotton wrapped polyester, which is chosen for its strength and its ability to swell when wet to help seal sewing needle punctures.

The aerodynamic shape of our tents insures stability, tautness, and a quiet night's sleep. Tested in severe winds, flapping is nominal, due in part to the smoothly arched ridge line and catenary cut. Only premium materials are used. Each tent must pass a rigid inspection before it leaves our factory. You are assured of uncompromised quality. As with all our products, all tents are fully warranted. Production of these tents is very time consuming and we apologize for any delivery delays should they occur. We will not sacrifice quality to meet demand.

Our bags are modified mummies. They are roomy, yet heat efficient. The outer shells are 1.9 oz. ripstop nylon. The inner shells are soft, high count nylon taffeta. These fabrics are water-repellent yet breathable. They are filled with Hollofil II insulation by Dupont. We chose Hollofil II over down because down will not insulate when wet and falls out when the bag is ripped. In our experience, these are two serious drawbacks. We chose Hollofil II over the more conventional solid polyesters because it is hollow and therefore has 8½% more bulk per unit of weight. This means more dead air space, more loft, and more insulating value.

The differential cut of the shells and lining together with our triple layer "sandwich" construction gives our bags uniform loft throughout. Large offset draft tubes continue beyond the snag-proof zippers and form full circumference collars, which easily draw snug around your neck and secure with a cord lock from within. The low temperature bags have a hood, which can be drawn up around your head in extreme temperatures. The two-way separating zippers allow you to ventilate from the bottom as well as the top. Left zip bags can be connected to right zip bags to form a double sleeper.

Each of our bags comes in a coated nylon stuff sack A004 (see details this page). Storage of these fine bags in their stuff sacks is not recommended.

"The Great Northern sleeping bags are not only very warm, but, for all of their loft, are very light in weight. The circumferential draft collars are really worth their weight in gold."

Cannondale products are insulated exclusively with Dacron Hollofil II by Dupont. We chose this fill over conventional polyester fills because of it's unique construction and superior quality. Each fiber is hollow, thus creating 8½% greater loft per unit of weight. Each fiber is coated to reduce fiber-to-fiber friction, thus promoting excellent compactibility and refluability. Hollofil II continues to insulate in very wet conditions. Outerwear may be wrung out and put back on with very little appreciable loss in loft. Hollofil II is also non-allergenic, exceptionally soft, easily washable, and very quick drying. Hollofil II . . . ingenuity by Dupont.

Our Winan's Camel Pack is a hybrid. It has a combination internal/external frame support system. This hand bent tubular aluminum alloy frame is chosen for its high strength and light weight. It is anatomically shaped for proper fit. The frame forms two platforms, above and below the pack, for carrying additional gear such as a tent, sleeping bag, etc. (also see page three). Each platform has two captive, but removable, 40" tie down straps.

This internal/external design allows the pack to ride closer to your back, which means less foot pounds of leverage against your spine and less side to side sway. Our pack has excellent capacity while being more maneuverable than conventional frame packs. Our wrap around suspension system, together with the contour padded waistbelt, allows most of the weight to settle on your hips, and displaces the balance of the weight over more shoulder area. Pressure points, common to most other backpacks are substantially reduced. The sternum strap allows you to pull the shoulder pads closer to the center of your chest. Arm movement and load stability are maximized and underarm chafe is diminished. Convenience is inherent in the design. The full front-opening panel gives immediate access to all sections of the main compartment without removing any gear from the top platform. The contour foam padded waistbelt, which has left and right adjustment ability, features our quick release aluminum alloy buckle. A pouch pocket, suitable for gorp, pen knife, camera, etc., snaps to either left or right of this waistbelt.

This extremely rugged pack is made with urethane-coated, heavy duty nylon Cordura fabric. We use double stitching on all primary load bearing seams and there are numerous bartacks and leather reinforcements at stress points. Zippers are chosen for their durability and there are lace loops through all pulls for easy gloved operation. A zippered pocket is suspended from the frame at the top of the main compartment, keeping heavy items high and secure, yet easily flattened out of the way if desired. Two long external side pockets zip vertically and are double bartacked to the pack at their corners, allowing long items such as skis or fishing rods to slide through and be lashed to the leather patches above and below each pocket. There are two horizontally zippered external pockets attached to the front of the pack. All zippered openings have pull tabs and oversized rain flaps. Two compressor straps cross the front of the pack and prevent load shifting and zipper stress. A web ice axe loop is stitched beneath one of the two 6-slot leather patches on the front. Approx. capacity 3000 cu. ins.

super SOFTPACKS

These Cannondale Softpacks are ideal for bicycling, ski touring, rock climbing, & day hiking, as well as use around campus. Each softpack has our patented polyfoam liner, which protects your back from being jabbed by hard objects carried in the pack. This exclusive liner also cushions and quiets pack contents, helps spread the load weight evenly, (thus relieving stress on stitching) and prevents wear and abrasion on the inside of the pack fabric. Access to pack contents is made easy by double pull tabs on wrap-around nylon coil zippers. Each pull tab features a generous lace loop for easy gloved operation. All zipper openings are protected from the weather by oversized rain flaps. All strap connections are durably reinforced with bartack stitching and each pack provides the extra convenience of a nylon web haul/hang loop at the top.

An optional accessory for our Trackwalker and Dispatcher packs is a waistbelt (A002), with an aluminum alloy, quick release buckle. An optional accessory for our Hobo and Stack packs is the Sternum Strap (A008), which is used to pull shoulder pads closer to the center of your chest, aid arm movement and pack stability.

the Alternatives . . .

Get your bike, take the family, or invite a friend and really enjoy your town . . . or plan a more ambitious tour.

America deserves your support and your participation.

A bicycle is a highly efficient means of transportation. We at Cannondale believe that the accessories designed to increase your bike's versatility should also enhance its efficiency. Our years of extensive research have led to several innovative patents, which not only improve pack function, but also provide a margin of safety for both the rider and the load.

Our polyfoam liners, a Cannondale first, are incorporated into each pack. They maintain the pack's shape while cushioning and quieting the contents, helping to spread the load weight evenly, relieving stress on stitching, and preventing wear and abrasion on the inside of the pack fabric.

Our coated, lightweight metal, cantilevered frames support each handlebar pack at the top of each side. They are unobtrusive, extremely strong, and light in weight.

All packs are made of waterproof heavy duty Cordura or nylon pack cloth. Construction is precise with double stitching and generous bartacking throughout. Other standard features include: nylon coil zippers with easy to grasp lace loops through all pulls, nylon web pull tabs for easy zipper operation, oversized rain flaps, safety reflectors, vibrationproof aircraft fasteners, and specially designed hardware for easy attachment and removal from the bike. All packs can be conveniently carried when off the bike by means of web handle or adjustable snap on shoulder strap.

Building the highest quality components into every Cannondale bike pack and our attention to design refinements have made these fine accessories the very best you can buy.
